

Minji Wong

EXECUTIVE COACH

minjiwong.com | minjiwong@gmail.com

EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

Minji is a professional certified coach who empowers leaders to be at their best. Through her practical and holistic approach, she has worked extensively with diverse individuals and teams to provide the impact needed for lasting positive change. Minji has coached multiple executives, emerging leaders and high achieving individuals hailing from Fortune 500 and startups to bring personal transformation and impact to the workplace and beyond.

BACKGROUND

Minji has over 15+ years of experience at global technology, retail and finance Fortune 500 firms from companies like Facebook, Walmart and eBay focused on organizational development, talent management, leadership development, team effectiveness and has extensive experience partnering with global leaders to bring clarity on direction and support for their organization. She has lead talent development teams and major initiatives through coaching thousands of high performing leaders, managers and individual contributors to be at their best.

INDUSTRY EXPERIENCE

Minji specializes in coaching diverse leaders at critical career pivot points including executives, emerging leaders and high performing individuals in various industries including tech, retail, finance, non-profit. Pivots include newness and changes in role, function, company, onramps and offramps that include transition.

COACHING APPROACH

Minji's unique blend of internal HR experience with organizational effectiveness, talent management and leadership development business facing roles along with a holistic integral approach to coaching equips her clients to lead with their whole self. This enables each client to reach farther beyond strategy, incorporating a somatic approach to personal growth and professional development for optimized work-life integration.

Minji empowers clients to work through pragmatic short-term and long-term goals, the challenging obstacles and roadblocks to achieving them, and then developing a realistic roadmap for success that includes self awareness activities, practices and exercises used to achieve sustainable, transformative change through context and culture of their environment.

As an avid distance runner, indoor cycling enthusiast and practicing yogi, Minji understands that in order to have a strong mind, there must be a stronger body and soul.

RECENT COACHING ASSIGNMENTS

Leader at technology company, Fortune 100

Leader at technology company, Best Places to Work Top 10

Founder, Startup

EDUCATION, PUBLICATIONS, AND PROFESSIONAL AFFILIATIONS

Minji is a Professional Certified Coach [PCC] with New Ventures West and has coached thousands of leaders, high achieving individuals and teams for 15 years. She serves as an adjunct Executive Coach through the Center for Creative Leadership and is certified in multiple behavioral instruments and tools including Hogan, Meyers Briggs, Birkman, FIRO-B, Situational Leadership and various 360s. Minji earned her MA in Organizational Management and Development from Fielding Graduate University.

Minji is also the Founder and Principal of At Her Best, LLC, a practice empowering women at life's pivot points. She is also a leadership consultant, facilitator and speaker. She is a Board Member for Girls on the Run, a national nonprofit organization empowering girls through movement.